RCM Wealth Advisors offers the following advisory services to our clients:

INVESTMENT PORTFOLIO MANAGEMENT

Our firm provides continuous advice to a client regarding the investment of client funds based on the individual needs of the client. Through personal discussions in which goals and objectives based on a client's particular circumstances are established, we develop a client's personal investment policy and create and manage a portfolio based on that policy. During our data-gathering process, we determine the client's individual objectives, time horizons, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs. As appropriate, we also review and discuss a client's prior investment history, as well as family composition and background.

We manage these advisory accounts on a discretionary or non-discretionary basis. Account supervision is guided by the client's stated objectives (i.e., capital appreciation, growth, income, or growth and income), as well as tax considerations. Clients may impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities, types of securities, or industry sectors.

Our investment recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company and will generally include advice regarding the following securities:

- Exchange-listed securities
- Securities traded over-the-counter
- Corporate debt securities (other than commercial paper)
- Certificates of deposit
- Municipal securities
- United States governmental securities
- Options contracts on securities
- Options contracts on commodities

Because some types of investments involve certain additional degrees of risk, they will only be implemented/recommended when consistent with the client's stated investment objectives, tolerance for risk, liquidity and suitability.

RCM Wealth Advisors does not participate in wrap fee programs.

We carefully review documents supplied by the client, including a questionnaire completed by the client, and prepare a written report. Implementation of financial plan recommendations is entirely at the client's discretion.

Financial Planning recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company. All recommendations are of a generic nature.

Plan documents will be delivered to clients within six months of the receipt of all required information by the client, provided that all information needed to prepare the financial plan has been promptly provided.

1. Gathering and drafting of general investment information: This service involves spreadsheet analysis, reports and consultations. 2. Investment Research: This service involves providing clients with spreadsheets, analysis, and reports on prior investments and their current financial state. This also involves an analysis of the investment options available to the client and a report of those options that is informative to the client. The Firm has an Investment Policy Committee that conducts research on the market and the investment opportunities. OTHER OUTSIDE ACTIVITIES

Investment Adviser Representatives and other related persons of our firm are licensed with the NFA and/or licensed agents for an insurance agency.

AMOUNT OF MANAGED ASSETS

As of 03/31/2020, we are actively managing $66,000,000 of clients' assets on a discretionary basis plus $121,000,000 of clients' assets on a non-discretionary basis.

Item 5 Fees and Compensation

With respect to financial planning, when a conflict exists between the interests of the investment adviser and the interests of the client, the client is under no obligation to act upon the investment adviser's recommendation. If the client elects to act on any of the recommendations, the client is under no obligation to effect the transaction through the investment adviser.

Conflicts may include, but are not limited to, when an advisor is also registered as a futures broker and recommends a transaction on behalf of an advisory client. When a futures transaction is executed, the IAR is no longer operating in a fiduciary capacity and is collecting commissions versus investment advisory fees. These commissions are then paid to RCM

Wealth Advisors by the affiliated entity. Other conflicts may include, but are not limited to when an IAR is recommending an insurance product for an advisory client, the IAR is again no longer operating in a fiduciary capacity, but as an insurance agent for an affiliated insurance company. These commissions are then paid to RCM Wealth Advisors by the affiliated entity. RCM Wealth Advisors mitigates such conflicts by properly disclosing the nature of the relationship with all affiliated companies.

Currently, the firm does not have a registered representative of a broker-dealer.

FINANCIAL PLANNING FEES

All advisors at RCM Wealth Advisors offer the same fee structure to clients, regardless of the advisors individual education, background and experience.

RCM Wealth Advisors' Financial Planning fee of $150 per hour or $1,500 per plan, determined based on the nature of the services being provided and the complexity of each client's circumstances. Each client's fee will be based on the hours projected to complete the plan. All fees are agreed upon prior to entering into a contract with any client. A client has the option to choose from the Financial Planning Services listed in Item 4 on anal a carte basis, or to engage the Firm in conducting a comprehensive financial plan that incorporates each of those services, as appropriate for the individual client. Every client has the option of engaging RCM Wealth Advisors for financial planning services on either an hourly or fixed fee basis. However, if the client requires a comprehensive financial plan that will require more than 30 hours of work, due to the complexity of the client's financial situation, then the fixed fee for such services may be more than $1,500, but will never be more than $3,000. Any fixed fees charged above $1,500 will be clearly outlined and agreed upon with the client prior to entering into a contract with any client. The fee schedule below provides further information on the fees charged for financial planning services.

RCM Wealth Advisors determines its financial planning fees based on the complexity of each individual client's circumstances and financial situation. When determining our fixed rates, RCM Wealth Advisors takes into consideration the scope of services to be provided to the client, the amount of time that is required to perform those services, and the extent of the relationship and commitment required of the advisor based on the scope of services performed. When determining our hourly rates, our Firm considers the value of the services rendered by the advisors, the market rates for this type of services, and the background, education, and experience of our advisors. We have determined that our Firm is willing to reduce the hourly rate by approximately half if a client desires a fully comprehensive financial plan and desires to pay a flat fee for a bundle of services. Thus, our rate of $1,500 for approximately 20 hours of work reflects a 50% discount on our regular hourly rate for a la carte services.

We may request a retainer upon completion of our initial fact-finding session with the client; however, advance payment will never exceed $1,200 for work that will not be completed within six months. The balance is due upon completion of the plan. If no retainer is requested, and no other fee arrangement has been entered into with the client, then fees are due upon completion of the services agreed upon. The engagement for Financial Planning Services and Consultation Services terminates upon the delivery of services or at the conclusion of the project, as outlined in the engagement. Services will not include any portfolio management, monitoring, reviews, follow-ups, or other services.

Fee Schedule

- Fixed Fees: The fixed fee of $1,500 per plan is for an all-inclusive financial plan. This fee includes an initial information gathering session, the preparation of a comprehensive financial plan, subsequent plan presentation meeting and discussion with the client, and one follow-up meeting. The client and advisor will work together in the information gathering session to determine which of the services listed in 1-9 in Item 4 are necessary and applicable based on the individual client's needs. However, the $1,500 flat fee will allow the client to have any of these services performed by the advisor, subject to the fee agreement agreed upon by the advisor and client. If the client requires a comprehensive financial plan that will require more than 30 hours of work, due to the complexity of the client's financial situation, then the fixed fee for such services may be more than $1,500, but will never be more than $3,000.
- Hourly Fees: The Firm assesses an hourly rate of $150 per hour for financial planning services. If a client desires to engage the Firm in completing any one of the financial planning services listed in Item 4, then the client may do so by paying the hourly rate of $150 per hour. Such fees are generally due on completion of the services; however, other fee paying arrangements may be established depending on the amount of time required to complete the requested services. All such terms will be clearly set forth in the executed agreement for services.
- Retainer Services: Periodic financial planning services are offered to clients as part of an annual retainer program. Such services include periodic reviews, revisions/updates to the financial plan, and day-to-day consulting as required. Fees are $750 which is equal to one-half of the initial cost of the written financial plan and are payable quarterly in advance. This service is only available to clients that have otherwise engaged RCM Wealth Advisors for financial planning services, and within 90 days of completion of the initial financial plan.

Financial Planning Fee Offset: RCM Wealth Advisors reserves the discretion to reduce or waive the hourly fee and/or the fixed fee if a financial planning client chooses to engage us for our Portfolio Management Services.

GENERAL INFORMATION

Termination of the Advisory Relationship: Clients have the right to terminate a contract within five business days of entering into the contract without penalty. A client agreement may be canceled at any time, by either party, for any reason upon receipt of written notice. As disclosed above, certain fees are paid in advance of services provided. Upon termination of any account, any prepaid, unearned fees will be promptly refunded. In calculating a client's reimbursement of fees, we will pro rate the reimbursement according to the number of days remaining in the billing period.

Mutual Fund Fees: All fees paid to RCM Wealth Advisors for investment advisory services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by mutual funds and/or ETFs to their shareholders. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus.

These fees will generally include a management fee, other fund expenses, and a possible distribution fee. If the fund also imposes sales charges, a client may pay an initial or deferred sales charge. A client could invest in a mutual fund directly, without our services. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by our firm which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which mutual fund or funds are most appropriate to each client's financial condition and objectives. Accordingly, the client should review both the fees charged by the funds and our fees to fully understand the total amount of fees to be paid by the client and to thereby evaluate the advisory services being provided.

Additional Fees and Expenses: In addition to our advisory fees, clients are also responsible for the fees and expenses charged by custodians and imposed by broker dealers, including, but not limited to, any transaction charges imposed by a broker dealer with which an independent investment manager effects transactions for the client's account(s). Please refer to the "Brokerage Practices" section (Item 12) of this Form ADV for additional information.

Grandfathering of Minimum Account Requirements: Pre-existing advisory clients are subject to RCM Wealth Advisors' minimum account requirements and advisory fees in effect at the time the client entered into the advisory relationship. Therefore, our firm's minimum account requirements will differ among clients.

Advisory Fees in General: Clients should note that similar advisory services may (or may not) be available from other registered (or unregistered) investment advisers for similar or lower fees.

Limited Prepayment of Fees: Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1,200 more than six months in advance of services rendered.

No Other Fees Charged: Other than the fees detailed in this document, including the fees detailed in the "Additional Fees and Expenses" and Item 5 "Fees and Compensation" above, no other fees will be charged to the client without a modification of this document and a written notification to the Client prior to the issuance of any non-disclosed fees.

Item 6 Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

RCM Wealth Advisors does not charge performance-based fees.

Item 7 Types of Clients

RCM Wealth Advisors provides advisory services to the following types of clients:

- Individuals (other than high net worth individuals)
- High net worth individuals
- Pension and profit sharing plans (other than plan participants)
- Corporations or other businesses not listed above

As previously disclosed in Item 5, our firm has established certain initial minimum account requirements, based on the nature of the service(s) being provided. For a more detailed understanding of those requirements, please review the disclosures provided in each applicable service.

Item 8 Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

METHODS OF ANALYSIS

We use the following methods of analysis in formulating our investment advice and/or managing client assets:

Fundamental Analysis. We attempt to measure the intrinsic value of a security by looking at economic and financial factors (including the overall economy, industry conditions, and the financial condition and management of the company itself) to determine if the company is underpriced (indicating it may be a good time to buy) or overpriced (indicating it may be time to sell).

Fundamental analysis does not attempt to anticipate market movements. This presents a potential risk, as the price of a security can move up or down along with the overall market regardless of the economic and financial factors considered in evaluating the stock.

Cyclical Analysis. In this type of technical analysis, we measure the movements of a particular stock against the overall market in an attempt to predict the price movement of the security.

Risks for all forms of analysis. Our securities analysis methods rely on the assumption that the companies whose securities we purchase and sell, the rating agencies that review these securities, and other publicly-available sources of information about these securities, are providing accurate and unbiased data. While we are alert to indications that data may be incorrect, there is always a risk that our analysis may be compromised by inaccurate or misleading information.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES

We use the following strategies in managing client accounts:

Strategic Knight All Cap Allocation

- The Strategic Knight is a diversified equity portfolio intended for investors who want to bear similar risk as the S&P 500 index. The portfolio is designed to have comparable sector weightings as the S&P 500 while reflecting active selection of stocks within each sector. Investing in stocks involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. This strategy invests in US listed stocks, and stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. This strategy may hold growth stocks, which can perform differently from the market as a whole and can be more volatile. In addition, growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. The strategy may hold value stocks and thus it may take longer than expected for the value of these investments to rise to the portfolio manager's perceived value. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. Depending on when securities are sold, there may be a gain or loss in the value of the holdings.

Strategic Knight All Cap Allocation w/ Hedge Overlay

- The Strategic Knight is a diversified equity portfolio for investors who are less willing to bear comparable risk to the S&P 500 index through comparable sector weightings. In an attempt to lessen market risks, the portfolio incorporates a hedging component through options that is intended to limit the extent of a market decline in exchange for a limit to market gains.

Investing in stocks involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. This strategy invests in US listed stocks, and stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. Depending on when securities are sold, there may be a gain or loss in the value of the holdings.

In addition, the hedge portfolio is subject to derivative risk. Derivatives may expose the portfolio to additional risks, including correlation risk, leverage risk, hedging risk and liquidity risk.

Global Equity Income Portfolio

- This strategy invests in US listed and Foreign ADR stocks and attempts to derive gains for the portfolio from two sources—dividends and capital appreciation. Foreign markets can be more volatile than the U.S. market due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Foreign investments involve greater risks than those of U.S. investments. All stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. Investing in stocks involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. This strategy may hold growth stocks, which can perform differently from the market as a whole and can be more volatile. In addition, growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. The strategy may hold value stocks and thus it may take longer than expected for the value of these investments to rise to the portfolio manager's perceived value. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. Depending on when securities are sold, there may be a gain or loss in the value of the holdings.

Triple Income Options Program

-The Triple Income Options Program is an income and growth investment strategy that combines investing primarily in dividend paying stocks while harvesting option premiums. Investing in stocks involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. This strategy invests in US listed stocks, and stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. This strategy may hold growth stocks, which can perform differently from the market as a whole and can be more volatile. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. Depending on when securities are sold, there may be a gain or loss in the value of the holdings.

In addition, cash secured puts and covered calls are written on the stocks held in the portfolio. Options on securities may be subject to greater fluctuations in value than an investment in the underlying securities. Writing put and call options are highly specialized activities and entail greater than ordinary Investment risks and are not suitable for everyone. Such trading can be speculative in nature and carry substantial risk of loss, including the loss of principal.

ETF Advisor (Strategic & Tactical)

- This program intends to provide the investor with exposure to ETF strategies of (1) various investor styles—growth and value, and (2) various sizes—small, medium, and large capitalization stocks. ETFs are subject to among other risks, tracking risk, passive and active management risk, and investor bear both a portfolio's expense and similar expenses incurred

Mutual Fund Advisor

-This program intends to provide the investor with exposure to mutual funds strategies of (1) various investor styles—growth and value, and (2) various sizes—small, medium, and large capitalization stocks. Investing in mutual funds carries all the risk inherent to investing in securities, but tries to minimize the risk by diversifying across multiple asset classes. Investing in stocks involves risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear. Stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. This strategy may hold growth stocks, which can perform differently from the market as a whole and can be more volatile. In addition, growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. The strategy may hold value stocks and thus it may take longer than expected for the value of these investments to rise to the portfolio manager's perceived value. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. The funds may hold foreign stocks which can be more volatile than the U.S. stocks due to increased risks of adverse issuer, political, regulatory, market, or economic developments and can perform differently from the U.S. market. Foreign investments involve greater risks than those of U.S. investments. Depending when you sell you may experience a gain or loss in the value of the funds. Depending on the strategy and type of fund invested the investor may encounter active management, convertible security, derivative, foreign security, frequent trading, sector, growth stock, value stock, emerging market and geographic risk.

Single Manager Strategies (SMA)

RCM Knights Single Manager Approaches (SMA) focus on the strategies of individual managers and offer clients a diversity of investment options.

This strategy invests in US listed stocks, and stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. The strategy may suffer from concentration risk. Each holding may be subject to active management, allocation, concentration, sector, and market risk. This strategy holds growth stocks, which can perform differently from the market as a whole and can be more volatile. In addition, growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. The strategy may hold value stocks and thus it may take longer than expected for the value of these investments to rise to the portfolio manager's perceived value. In addition, value securities, at times, may not perform as well as growth securities or the stock market in general, and may be out of favor with investors for varying periods of time. Depending when you sell you may experience a gain or loss in the value of the stocks.

Select Long Term Capital Appreciation

This portfolio seeks to profit from the view that certain businesses can grow continually over a long period of time. This strategy carefully selects growth companies that pass a valuation criterion.

This strategy invests in US listed stocks, and stock values fluctuate in response to the activities of individual companies, general market and economic conditions. DOSS - Discretionary Options Spread Strategy

This strategy is a discretionary options-based spread strategy that trades US listed index options with a non-directional approach. This strategy seeks relative non-correlated returns to the RUT 2000 Index and other publicly traded Indices. The goal of the program is to achieve consistent positive returns in market conditions with lower and higher measures of volatility. These strategies are appropriate if they fit the client's needs, investment objectives, risk tolerance, and time horizons, among other considerations:

Risk of Loss. Securities investments are not guaranteed and you may lose money on your investments. We ask that you work with us to help us understand your tolerance for risk. Clients should understand that investing in any securities, including mutual funds, involves a risk of loss of both income and principal, that clients should be prepared to bear.

RCM Wealth Advisors and RCM Futures & Alternatives are two separate entities related through common ownership of member Robert Schwartz. A client of RCM Wealth Advisors is not obligated to select any of the services RCM Futures & Alternatives provide.

We endeavor at all times to put the interest of our clients first as part of our fiduciary duty as a registered investment adviser and take the following steps to address this conflict:

- We disclose to clients the existence of all material conflicts of interest;
- RCM Wealth Advisors discloses to clients that they are not obligated to purchase recommended investment products or services from its management persons or employees in their capacities as registered representatives;
- We collect, maintain and document accurate, complete and relevant client background information, including the client's financial goals and objectives;

RCM Wealth Advisors and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in principal transactions.

RCM Wealth Advisors and individuals associated with our firm are prohibited from engaging in agency cross transactions.

Our Code of Ethics is designed to assure that the personal securities transactions, activities and interests of our employees will not interfere with (i) making decisions in the best interest of advisory clients and (ii) implementing such decisions while, at the same time, allowing employees to invest for their own accounts.

Our firm and/or individuals associated with our firm may buy or sell for their personal accounts securities identical to or different from those recommended to our clients. In addition, any related person(s) may have an interest or position in a certain security(ies) which may also be recommended to a client.

It is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account, thereby preventing such employee(s) from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.

We may aggregate our employee trades with client transactions where possible and when compliant with our duty to seek best execution for our clients. In these instances, participating clients will receive an average share price and transaction costs will be shared equally and on a pro-rata basis. In the instances where there is a partial fill of a particular batched order, we will allocate all purchases pro-rata, with each account paying the average price. Our employee accounts will be included in the pro-rata allocation.

As these situations represent actual or potential conflicts of interest to our clients, we have established the following policies and procedures for implementing our firm's Code of Ethics, to ensure our firm complies with its regulatory obligations and provides our clients and potential clients with full and fair disclosure of such conflicts of interest:

1. No principal or employee of our firm may put his or her own interest above the interest of an advisory client.
2. No principal or employee of our firm may buy or sell securities for their personal portfolio(s) where their decision is a result of information received as a result of his or her employment unless the information is also available to the investing public.
3. It is the expressed policy of our firm that no person employed by us may purchase or sell any security prior to a transaction(s) being implemented for an advisory account. This prevents such employees from benefiting from transactions placed on behalf of advisory accounts.
4. Our firm requires prior approval for any IPO or private placement investments by related persons of the firm.
5. We maintain a list of all reportable securities holdings for our firm and anyone associated with this advisory practice that has access to advisory recommendations ("access person"). These holdings are reviewed on a regular basis by our firm's Chief Compliance Officer or his/her designee.
6. We have established procedures for the maintenance of all required books and records.
7. All clients are fully informed that related persons may receive separate commission

- compensation when effecting transactions during the implementation process.
8. Clients can decline to implement any advice rendered, except in situations where our firm is granted discretionary authority.
 9. All of our principals and employees must act in accordance with all applicable Federal and
 10. State regulations governing registered investment advisory practices.
 11. Any individual who violates any of the above restrictions may be subject to termination.

RCM Wealth Advisors has a Code of Ethics and a Policies and Procedures manual that is given to each employee, registered representative, or associated person of RCM Wealth Advisors LLC upon hiring.

Item 12 Brokerage Practices

RCM Wealth Advisors does not have any soft-dollar arrangements and does not receive any soft-dollar benefits.

RCM Wealth Advisors permits that clients provide us with written authority to determine the custodian to use and the commission costs that will be charged to our clients for these transactions.

These clients must include any limitations on this discretionary authority in this written authority statement. Clients may change/amend these limitations as required. Such amendments must be provided to us in writing.

When determining which custodian to utilize, we take into consideration several factors. These factors include, but may not be limited to the custodian's reputation, ease of execution, services offered, financial strength, pricing, responsiveness and pricing. These factors help us determine which firm will fulfill both your needs for best execution and our need to provide you with the best services available.

RCM Wealth Advisors will block trades where possible and when advantageous to clients.

This blocking of trades permits the trading of aggregate blocks of securities composed of assets from multiple client accounts, so long as transaction costs are shared equally and on a pro-rated basis between all accounts included in any such block.

Block trading may allow us to execute equity trades in a timelier, more equitable manner, at an average share price. RCM Wealth Advisors will typically aggregate trades among clients whose accounts can be traded at a given custodian. RCM Wealth Advisors' block trading policy and procedures are as follows:

- 1) Transactions for any client account may not be aggregated for execution if the practice is prohibited by or inconsistent with the client's advisory agreement with RCM Wealth Advisors or our firm's order allocation policy.

- 2) The trading desk in concert with the portfolio manager must determine that the purchase or sale of the particular security involved is appropriate for the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives and with any investment guidelines or restrictions applicable to the client's account.
- 3) The portfolio manager must reasonably believe that the order aggregation will benefit, and will enable RCM Wealth Advisors to seek best execution for each client participating in the aggregated order. This requires a good faith judgment at the time the order is placed for the execution. It does not mean that the determination made in advance of the transaction must always prove to have been correct in the light of a "20-20 hindsight" perspective. Best execution includes the duty to seek the best quality of execution, as well as the best net price.
- 4) Prior to entry of an aggregated order, an order ticket must be completed which identifies each client account participating in the order and the proposed allocation of the order, upon completion, to those clients.
- 5) If the order cannot be executed in full at the same price or time, the securities actually purchased or sold by the close of each business day must be allocated pro rata among the participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. However, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to participating client accounts in accordance with the initial order ticket or other written statement of allocation. Furthermore, adjustments to this pro rata allocation may be made to avoid having odd amounts of shares held in any client account, or to avoid excessive ticket charges in smaller accounts.
- 6) Generally, each client that participates in the aggregated order must do so at the average price for all separate transactions made to fill the order, and must share in the commissions on a pro rata basis in proportion to the client's participation. Under the client's agreement with the custodian, transaction costs may be based on the number of shares traded for each client.
- 7) If the order will be allocated in a manner other than that stated in the initial statement of allocation, a written explanation of the change must be provided to and approved by the Chief Compliance Officer no later than the morning following the execution of the aggregate trade.
- 8) RCM Wealth Advisors' client account records separately reflect, for each account in which the aggregated transaction occurred, the securities which are held by, and bought and sold for, that account.
- 9) Funds and securities for aggregated orders are clearly identified on RCM Wealth Advisors' records and to the custodians or other intermediaries handling the transactions, by the appropriate account numbers for each participating client.
- 10) No client or account will be favored over another.

Financial Planning and Consultation clients are welcome to utilize any service provider they may choose and are welcome to implement any advice or recommendations in whole or in part on a non-discretionary basis.

Your advisor will typically recommend that you use one particular custodian for your investments with us. The choice of the custodian is based on factors such as the value of your investments and your investment needs. As our client, you may direct us in writing to use a particular custodian to execute some or all transactions in your account(s). If we do not have an agreement with that firm, you will need to negotiate the terms and arrangements for the account. We will not seek better execution services or prices. We will also not be able to aggregate transactions to achieve better pricing. You may also pay transaction costs and/or receive less favorable net prices.

Subject to our duty of best execution, we may decline your request to direct brokerage. We may do this if we believe the arrangement would result in additional operational difficulties or violate restrictions imposed by other firms we (or our Advisors) have agreements with. We are aware of our duty to obtain best execution for you and have implemented policies and procedures reasonably designed to do so.

RCM Wealth Advisors utilizes Interactive Brokers and TD Ameritrade as custodians, and we reserve the right to open new custodial relationships in the future based on the needs of our clients.

Commission rates are one of several factors that RCM Wealth Advisors uses in determining which custodians to form relationships with. Any custodial relationship maintained by RCM Wealth Advisors is governed by the RCM Wealth Advisors Policies and Procedures Manual and the Code of Ethics, as well as the best practices of the industry.

Item 14 Client Referrals and Other Compensation

It is a part of RCM Wealth Advisors policy to engage solicitors or to pay related or non-related persons for referring potential clients to our firm. Solicitors who believe a prospect is appropriate for RCM Wealth Advisors will recommend that prospects entertain proposals for RCM investment advisory services. Prior to a referred prospect becoming a client of RCM, Solicitor will provide each prospect who agree to entertain a proposal for services with a Disclosure Statement required by Rule 206 (4)-3 and RCM's Form ADV Part 2A. A predetermined and uniform fee will be paid to the solicitor after it has been disclosed and signed by the referred client.

Item 15 Custody

Our firm does have custody of clients' cash or bank accounts, and securities for the reasons listed below:

We previously disclosed in the "Fees and Compensation" section (Item 5) of this Brochure that our firm directly debits advisory fees from client accounts. Clients provide our firm written authority to deduct our fees from their accounts in the Investment Advisory Agreement. Our firm will send a copy of the invoice to the client and the custodian, at the time of billing. As part of this billing process, the client's custodian is advised of the amount of the fee to be deducted from that client's account.

On at least a quarterly basis, the custodian is required to send to the client a statement showing all transactions within the account during the reporting period. It is important for clients to carefully review their custodial statements.

Clients should contact us directly if they believe that there may be an error in their statement.

Item 16 Investment Discretion

Clients may hire us to provide discretionary asset management services, in which case we place trades in a client's account without contacting the client prior to each trade to obtain the client's permission.

Our discretionary authority includes the ability to do the following without contacting the client:

- determine the security to buy or sell; and/or
- determine the amount of the security to buy or sell

Clients give us discretionary authority when they sign a discretionary agreement with our firm, and may limit this authority by giving us written instructions. Clients may also change/amend such limitations by once again providing us with written instructions.

Item 17 Voting Client Securities

As a matter of firm policy, we do not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Therefore, although our firm may provide investment advisory services relative to client investment assets, clients maintain exclusive responsibility for: (1) directing the manner in which proxies solicited by issuers of securities beneficially owned by the client shall be voted, and (2) making all elections relative to any mergers, acquisitions, tender offers, bankruptcy proceedings or other type events pertaining to the client's investment assets. Clients are responsible for instructing each custodian of the assets, to forward to the client copies of all proxies and shareholder communications relating to the client's investment assets.

The proxy statements are received by clients from custodians. We do not offer any consulting assistance regarding proxy issues to clients, nor do we advise on particular solicitations.

Item 18 Financial Information

As an advisory firm that maintains discretionary authority for client accounts, we are also required to disclose any financial condition that is reasonable likely to impair our ability to meet our contractual obligations. RCM Wealth Advisors has no such financial circumstances to report.

Under no circumstances do we require or solicit payment of fees in excess of $1,200 per client more than six months in advance of services rendered. Therefore, we are not required to include a financial statement.

RCM Wealth Advisors has not been the subject of a bankruptcy petition at any time during the past ten years.
